OIL COMPANY BILL UP IN SENATE TODAY

TO BE CONSIDERED AT NIGHT SESSIONS—HUTCHINGS CHARGES DROPPED

75 LOBBYISTS SIGN REGISTER

Bill to Regulate "Jitneys" Offered—Measure Favored for Experienced Farmer as Commissioner

By Associated Press.

Austin, Texas, Jan. 26.—The entire Senate met this morning at 10:30 as judiciary committee No 1 to consider the Texas Company bill asking for an extension of the corporate powers of the concern. Following half an hour's consideration of preliminary matters, it was decided to allow each side six hours to present the merits and demerits of the proposed legislation. Hearings will begin tonight and sessions will be held only at night until the matter is disposed of.

When the hearings start tonight Senator Bailey who introduced the bill will offer an amendment taken from the Clayton anti-trust law which provides that the Texas Company may "cause the formation of subsidiary corporations for the actual carrying on of their lawful business or the natural and legitimate branches thereof, outside of this State and may own and hold all or part of the stock of such subsidiary corporations, when the effect of such formation is not substantially to lessen competition or otherwise to violate laws prohibiting trusts or monopolies and conspiracies in restraint of trade."

Hutchings Exonerated.

The Senate committee on military affairs today unanimously adopted a resolution exonerating General Henry Hutchings, adjutant-general from any moral turpitude or official misconduct, as he was charged by Col. Percy Townsend of Corsicana. Col. Townsend appeared before the committee.

The charge of General Townsend that federal funds has been received by General Hutchings was admitted by the latter. In explanation of this General W. H. Stacy of Austin, representing General Hutchings offered an opinion written by former Attorney General Walthall that an adjutant general could receive pay as a disbursing agent of the federal government, and from the State at the same time without violating the Texas law or the federal laws.

As to the political charges made by Col. Townsend, that he had been illegally removed as brigadier general of the guard by Gen. Hutchings, a letter was read from Governor Colquitt assuming all responsibility for the removal.

Col. Townsend disclaims any personal motive for the charges he has preferred and after the exoneration of Gen. Hutchings shook hands with him explaining that it was for the good of the guard that the charges were made.

Nine Juror Bill Favored.

The Senate committee on agriculture today reported favorably the bill by Senator Connor which provides that candidates for commissioner of agriculture shall be required to have at least seven years experience as a farmer before coming eligible to hold the office. This committee also reported favorably Astin's bill for the protection of grass on the grounds of the State institutions.

The House committee on civil procedure today again reported favorably the Butler nine juror law. The bill had two days ago received a favorable report and this was reconsidered and the matter reopened before the committee.

The House committee on revenue and taxation today reported favorably a bill by Dickson levying a tax on knife boards and shooting galleries

Would Regulate "Jitneys."

"Jitney" motor cars are to be regulated in Texas by the terms of a bill introduced this afternoon in the House by Representative Mendell. It is estimated there are 1000 of these cars in operation in the leading Texas cities and that they should be regulated. The bill by Mr. Mendell provides for an annual tax of $50 for each "jitney" car and also requires the operator to give a bond in the sum of $5000. It also provides that city councils shall have the right to designate the streets upon which these cars shall be operated.

Many Lobbyists Register.

Approximately 75 representatives of various interests or so-called "lobbyists" registered in a book kept for that purpose in the Senate; this was in accordance with a resolution adopted yesterday requiring the registration of all persons appearing for or against pending legislation.

Wilson Resolution in Senate

The senate adopted a strong resolution by Bee of Bexar indorsing the Wilson administration, knocked a resolution that would have legislated President Pro Tem Nugent and Senator Bailey of Dewitt, his substitute, out of their jobs, passed a resolution requiring all lobbyists or special representatives to register and heard read a bill by Senator Townsend authorizing the railroad commission to make an inquiry into the expenditures of railroads operating in Texas for salaries and

GERMANY CLAIMS GAINS AT LABASSEE

SAYS TWO ENGLISH POINTS OF SUPPORT HAVE BEEN CAPTURED

BELGIAN PORTS BOMBARDED

Report Says Attack by British Resulted in Killing of Large Number of Citizens

By Associated Press.

Berlin, Jan. 26.—The German war office in its statement given out this afternoon says two strong points of support in the possession of the English were captured by German troops yesterday in a general assault on the English positions near Labassee. The statement follows:

"In the western theatre the enemy, following his custom, placed Middlekerke and Westende, in Belgium, under fire yesterday. A large number of the inhabitants were killed or injured by this fire. They included the burgomaster of Middlekerk. Our losses yesterday were small.

"Our troops attacked the positions of the English on both sides of the Labassee canal. While the attack to the north of the Canal between Givenchy and the canal, did not lead to the capture of any English positions on account of a strong flanking movement an attack of the troops from Belden to the south of the Canal met with complete success. In this region English positions extended over a width of 1200 yards were taken by storm and two strong points of support were captured.

Counter Attack Fails

"Three officers and 100 men were taken prisoners and several cannon were captured. The English attempted in vain to recapture the positions which had been immediately employed for our own purposes but they were beaten back with heavy losses. Our losses were comparatively small. Battles successful for our troops took place on the heights of Craonne to the southeast of Laon. All the attacks of the French in the southern part of the Argonne were repulsed. More than 50 prisoners fell into our hands.

"In the eastern theatre the Russians attacked positions of our cavalry to the northeast of Gumbinnen in East Prussia without success. Fierce artillery duels took place on the remainder of the front in East Prussia. Less important engagements to the northwest of Wlockawek on the lower Vistula 40 miles southwest of Thorn were successful for us. Nothing of importance has happened in Poland to the west of the Vistula or to the east of the Pilicia river."

TO MAKE ANALYSIS OF RIGGS' STOMACH

GRAND JURY IS AWAITING RESULT OF EXAMINATION OF BODY

MAN'S BODY EXHUMED MONDAY

Mrs. Branch Expected to Be Brought Here From Vernon to Appear Before Jurors

The Wichita county grand jury is awaiting the results of an analysis of the stomach of H. E. Riggs, the Vernon constable who died in a hotel here Thursday night, before proceeding further with its investigation of the case.

The body of Riggs which had been buried at Vernon on the day following his death was exhumed yesterday and the stomach removed. An analysis is being made of its contents today. It was expected, however, that Mrs Mattie Branch who was arrested at Chickasha, Okla., Saturday night and taken to Vernon would be brought down from that place today and she may be taken before the grand jury at once upon her arrival here.

The grand jury which yesterday heard a statement from Mrs. Bishoff, the seventeen year old woman arrested at Fort Worth in connection with the case, at once ordered an examination of Riggs body and suspended further investigation pending the results of this investigation.

Likely To Be Witness.

It is not believed by those who have been active in the investigation of the case that Mrs. Bishoff is deeply implicated in any plot that might have existed to murder Riggs. It is believed, however, that she will be a material witness against some of the other defendants in case indictments are returned. It is said that she was present when certain of the others now under arrest discussed plans for getting possession of the $500 which Riggs had agreed to invest in a rooming house for Mrs Branch. Mrs. Bishoff is still weak from the results of a surgical operation recently. She is said to be a teacher of art and it is learned that she secured several pupils for an art class here before she left for Fort Worth early Friday morning.

ENORMOUS GERMAN GUN IS DESTROYED BY BRITISH

By Associated Press

St. Omer, France, Jan 26.—The heavy artillery of the British has destroyed an enormous gun the Germans were placing on a hill about a mile behind their first line of trenches and two miles from Festubert with the object of silencing the British howitzers and bombarding Berthune. The position of the big gun was marked by a British aviator and the fourth shell from the British guns demolished it. The British gunners then scattered a group of German artillerymen engaged in placing a similar gun a mile further behind.

WILL CONFISCATE WHEAT IN GERMANY

FEDERAL COUNCIL TO SEIZE STOCKS OF GRAIN AND FLOUR

GOVERNMENT WILL DISTRIBUTE

Owners of Supplies Will be Paid for Their Stocks—Necessary Until Next Harvest

By Associated Press.

Berlin, Jan. 26.—The federal council has put into effect sweeping regulations for the conservation of the food supply as follows:

"All stocks of corn, wheat and flour are ordered seized by February 1. All business transactions in these commodities are forbidden from January 26. All municipalities are charged with the duty of setting aside suitable supplies of preserved meats.

"The owners of corn are ordered to report their stocks immediately, whereupon confiscation at a fixed price will follow. A government distributing offices for the regulation of consumption will be established, distribution being made according to the number of inhabitants."

The Imperial Gazette today publishes the following notice regarding the confiscation of grain:

Says Steps Is Necessary.

"There is no doubt that the measure ordered taken cuts much deeper into the economic life of our people than all the other economic regulations hitherto adopted by the federal council during the war. It is, however, necessary in order to make cetrain the sufficient and regular supply of our people with breadstuffs until the next threshing of the new harvest and besides a necessity of life for the government and the nation.

"The steps hitherto taken have proved themselves not far reaching enough to bring about the sparing use of our limited supplies of breadstuffs, which, however are in reality sufficient for our needs. In particular the measures hitherto introduced have not prevented the feeding of bread grain to cattle. The present order gives us the certainty that our enemies' plan to starve Germany will be upset and assures us of plentiful bread until the next harvest."

"MOTHER" JONES TO SEE ROCKEFELLER JR.

IS INVITED BY HIM TO TELL ABOUT CONDITIONS IN COLORADO

WOMAN LABOR LEADER ACCEPTS

Says She Thinks He Ought to Know Something Besides What "Hirelings" Tell Him

By Associated Press.

New York, an. 26.—John D Rockefeller Jr., today invited "Mother" Jones the aged strike leader in the Colorado coal fields to visit him and place before him all information as to the strike situation there. The invitation was accepted.

The invitation was extended by Mr Rockefeller as he entered the room in the city hall where the federal commission on industrial relations is conducting its inquiry into the philanthropic foundations and the cause of industrial unrest. As he walked from the door to the witness stand he saw Mother Jones sitting among the spectators. He stepped to her side and shook hands.

"I want you to come and see me have on the Colorado situation," he have on the olorado situation," he said.

Mother Jones was visibly surprised.

"That's very nice of you," she said, "I have always said that you could know but little of the conditions of the workers in Colorado and that you should hear something else besides what these hirelings tell you."

REPULSE OF MANY ATTACKS CLAIMED

FRENCH REPORTS TELL OF SUCCESSFUL RESISTANCE ALL ALONG LINE

EFFECTIVE WORK BY ARTILLERY

Severe Fighting for Possession of Trenches West of Craonne is Still in Progress, Report Says

By Associated Press.

Paris, Jan. 26.—The French official statement this afternoon reads:

"On the Yser front, Belgian troops have made progress in the vicinity of Pervyse. At daybreak yesterday the Germans, one battalion strong, delivered an attack against our trenches to the east of Ypres. This movement was arrested sharply; 300 dead, including the commandant of the company at the head of the German advance, were left on the field of battle. This attack was to have been supported by certain companies from the German second line, but these men under the very exact fire of our artillery, found it impossible to come out from behind their shelters.

"Not far from Labassee at Givenchy and Kuinchy the enemy delivered five attacks against the British line. After having some slight progress the Germans were repulsed and left on the field numerous dead and 60 prisoners including two officers. This attack was accompanied by endeavors at diversion at points on our front.

"Between the road from Bethune to Labassee and Aix-Noulette detachments of the enemy, which endeavored to come from its trenches were at once stopped by the fire of our infantry and of our artillery.

Counter-Attack Succeeds.

"On the rest of the front between the Lys and the Oise yesterday saw artillery duels. To the west of Craonne the enemy delivered two successive attacks, each of great violence. The first was repulsed, but the second penetrated our trenches. By an energetic counter-attack, however, our troops succeeded in regaining almost all the ground lost by them. At this point the fighting is still going on around that part of the trench which is occupied by the Germans. In Champagne the artillery of the enemy yesterday showed less activity than on previous days while our batteries delivered an effective fire against the German position.

"In the Argonne, in the vicinity of St. Hubert, we checked with our artillery fire an attempt on the part of the Germans to deliver an attack. In Alsace the enemy was active in the employ of his mine throwers against our positions at Hart-mann-Wellerkopf. The Germans yesterday bombarded Thann, Lambach and Seanheim."

NO PREMATURE PEACE TO BE AGREED TO BY RUSSIA

Premier Says England Has Given Much More Aid Than Was Expected of Her

By Associated Press.

Petrograd, Jan. 26.—A number of questions dealing with many phases of Russia's relations with other nations, both allied and neutral states, were put to Foreign Minister Sassanoff by members of the Duma at today's sitting of the budget committee. Mr. Sassanoff replied briefly to all. He said he would request the imperial sanction to give detailed explanation at plenary sittings of the Duma

To a query concerning the help England was rendering the allies, France and Russia, M. Sassanoff replied Great Britain had undertaken a burden far heavier than had been expected of her.

Answering a question as to where there was any danger of the conclusion of a premature peace, Mr. Sassanoff said emphatically Russia would remain faithful to the spirit of the imperial manifesto and the agreement which the allies made (not to conclude an independent peace).

Deputy Kovalesky urged that the government issue a statement promising that the legislative assemblies and the organs of public opinion be consulted before entering upon an elaboration of peace conditions. Other questions concerning Italy, Roumania, Bulgaria, Sweden, Palestine, Persia and Afghanistan and the question of the Dardanelles and the Bosphorus and the relations between Japan and China were asked.

RUSSIA MEETS REVERSES IN INVASION OF BUKOWINA

Is Sending Reinforcements To Renew Offensive—German Gains In Poland Reported

By Associated Press.

London, Jan. 26.—Russia is pouring reinforcements into Bukowina where she apparently has met with a reverse at the hands of the Austrian forces. Vienna assumes that Roumania will now hesitate to join Russia in the war and that danger of the invasion of Transylvania is over, at least for the immediate future.

In Poland, heavy fighting is under way once more and a degree of success for the Germans is admitted in Petrograd. Berlin hears that the Teutonic allies have occupied Kielce. Kielce, capital of the Russian province of that name lies in Southern Poland 50 miles north of the border of the Austrian province of Galicia. In that region has occurred some of the heaviest fighting of the easter ncampaign. Kielce has been a Russian base and is of considerable strategic value because it is the most important railroad junction northwest of Cracow.

The reported Russian invasion of Hungary by way of Bukowina is attracting attention in London. A special news dispatch in Budapest sets forth that after a temporary check the Muscovites actually had penetrated Hungary where they hold the key to Joselva, an important strategic position. Reinforcements are reported to be arriving constantly in Bukowina, a fact which thoroughly indicates, in the opinion of British observers, the intention of Russia to invade Transylvania in force.

Petrograd reports that as a counter to this Russian move against Transylvania the German armies sent ostensibly to operate against Serbia are being directed to the defense of the Carpathian passes in conunction with the forces of Hungary.

In the war with Turkey also, Russia is encountering severe opposition. Although Petrograd announced that the resistance of the Turks in the Trans-Caucasus had been virtually broken, an official stateemnt today says that the Turks are offering stubborn resistance. Petrograd reports also that the Russian Caucasian army is closing in on the Turkish Black Sea flank, where the Ottoman troops are described as in a dangerous plight. From the same source comes a report that the British army in Messopotamia has met some success while advancing on Bagdad.

GERMANY REPEATS CLAIM THAT BRITISH CRUISER WAS SUNK SUNDAY

By Associated Press.

Berlin, Jan. 26.—Additional details of the sinking of a British battle cruiser in the Naval fight in the North Sea west of Heligoland which is claimed by the Germans is given in a statement issued here today. The statement follows:

"According to well-informed German sources the cruiser suffered heavily from the fire of our cannon and was then sunk by a German torpedo boat by two well-directed shots. The sinking was observed by a German airship which followed the battle closely. Two English torpedo boats were also sunk. The aircraft also observed the serious damage of other English ships."

GREAT BRITAIN MAKES ANSWER TO GERMAN CHANCELLOR'S INTERVIEW

London, Jan. 26.—The official information bureau this evening issued a statement as follows:

"The foreign office replying officially to the interviews with Dr. Von Bethman Hollweg, the German imperial chancellor (published in America January 24 and 25) admits the existence of the documents the Germans said they found in Brussels, but insists these were purely informal in case the British were needed to defend Belgian neutrality. The Belgian marginal note on the record explains "that the entry of the British into Belgium would take place after the violation of our neutrality by Belgium."

FORMER WICHITAN'S RAILROADING VIEWS

T. S. FORD IS AUTHOR OF BROCHURE ON TRAFFIC MATTERS

FACING GOVERNMENT OWNERSHIP

Says Relief of Present Conditions Must Come Not Through This, But By Co-operation

T. S. Ford, formerly of this city where he was auditor of the Wichita Falls Route, is the author of a brochure containing some interesting and apparently sound suggestions for railroad operation. The following concerning the booklet is from the Texas Republic, published at San Antonio:

T. S. Ford, auditor of the San Antonio, Uvalde and Gulf Railroad Company has issued a brochure, a copy of which the Republic acknowledges receipt, in which he advances a novel but seemingly most practical idea in regard to certain economies to be applied in the management and operation of railways.

Mr. Ford is a practical railroad men, and the ideas he advances are worthy of most serious study and consideration. Mr. Ford counsels organization of the parties in interest and only through organization can the reforms he suggests be brought about. He writes boldly and clearly, and minces no words nor terms. The past has proven, or should have proven, that the great transportation lines of the country need expect nothing from our National and State legislators, in the way of just legislation or friendly recognition and that they must take steps through formal organization of all interests concerned, if they would save their properties from ruination and confiscation.

Mr. Ford prefaces his brochure with the following introductory, under the heading of—

When the Government Owns the Railroads.

When that time comes a lot of the things mentioned herein, and many similar things, will become a reality not a theory.

But the government will never own the railroads, nor participate financially in them; it prefers to run them free of all responsibility and will continue to do so with increasing authority until there is some concerted defense by the railroads.

The railroads might as well accept this situation and meet conditions.

Follows Mr. Ford's article:

A National Railroad Association of America.

The railroads of the country will probably find in the end, that the relief they seek and must have to avert ultimate bankruptcy with many of them, must come through their own organized co-operation, rather than spasmodic individual efforts or through the philanthropy of law-making bodies or the general public. Whatever does come, will be because they make it come.

Their lack of organization and co-operation is reflected both in revenues and expenses. If arguments, pleas or threats fail to produce increased revenues, there are yet other remedies no less certain that lie within themselves to apply.

For the past 35 years railroads have voluntarily thrown away annually millions of dollars revenue by use of mileage books, script, credential tickets, etc., and they are doing it today. If the legal rate is 3 cents per mile, why reduce it one third by such devices? There never was and ain't today a ghost of a reason to give a drummer with eight sample trunks a 2 cent rate any more than a man with overalls and eight children. The drummer can tack it onto the customer anyhow, the man with eight children can't. For fear the sample trunk man will route his freight some other way, railroads fall over each other to give him reduced rates, all of which could have been and can be eliminated by organization and agreement not to do it.

Less important is the abuse of excess baggage privileges. Fully 25 to 50 per cent of excess baggage is never collected, for various and sundry reasons. The man with sample trunks or an annual pass will pass hundreds of dollars excess baggage with cigars.

Twenty-five millions of dollars are spent annually for "outside agency expenses," which were never contemplated in the institution of rates and entirely or mostly unnecessary, except to follow suit because others do it. The local agencies in a city could take care of the business if they would. It might take a few more clerks and telephones, but it can be done. Now, let one railroad rent a five hundred dollar per month city office and put on a thousand dollar staff and every competitor will rent an eight hundred dollar office and put on a fifteen hundred dollar staff and collectively they won't get a dollar more business than without this expense.

Over ten millions go annually for advertising, part necessary and part not. A timetable in the local newspapers and economical printed matter are necessary. Elaborate folders, advertising bureaus and pages of advertising are superfluous in these days when everybody knows the country anyhow. This expense was never contemplated in the institution of rates and could be abolished by railroad organization.

Terminals, costing anywhere from one to thirty millions are doubtful advocates of increased rates, but monuments to increased interest charges and don't contribute a dollar more business for the roads than terminals costing one-fourth or one-tenth as much. There should be fewer vestibuled trains and more mixed trains, unless it is known for a certainty the vestibule does pay, not as an advertisement but in real money. Laws don't compel fancy trains nor prevent their discontinuance. It is strictly within the control of the management to regulate according to known necessity. The public deserves what the revenues justify, nothing more.

Dining cars at prohibitive rates now operate at a loss, when a popular one price meal at straight 50 cents per, no more, no less, would attract more passengers who pay real money for riding, though less popular perhaps with dead heads and passengers having expense accounts to stuff. A train with a 50 cent dining car would get the passengers and at the same time make the car pay.

Railroads load themselves up with interest bearing notes for purchase of new equipment instead of wearing out the old first, just as a farmer mortgages his farm for a new fangled machine because his neighbor has one, and leaves his old to rot in the field and then finds out he has not more land to farm all. What is actually known of the outcome when a lot of 100 ton engines are bought? Are they going to increase the revenues to the extent of the cost of the engines, plus increased maintenance of track, plus cost of strengthening bridges, plus interest on the costs, plus depreciation of new over old, plus loss by abandonment of old, plus increased maintenance and operation of new over old during the life of them, less what they get for the old as scrap or as unloaded onto some small railroad who can and is glad to use them? Are these results actually calculated before hand or are they guessed at, because it's the fashion to have 100 ton engines instead of 50 or 65 ton engines?

Most important of all, is the labor question and, the most far reaching if this is the sympathetic strike. Does it need any clairvoyance to see what it would do for railroads if the bars were put up for keeps against the sympathetic striker? The right to strike locally for betterment of personal conditions is admitted. The sympathetic strike is indefensible, legally and on every other ground.

The cost of compliance with various State and National laws would furnish details to fill a book, yet railroads know absolutely nothing about this cost. There has been no organized or systematic effort to find out and the scope ranges from furnishing ice water for the public at large to the mail revenues railroads earn and don't get, not forgetting the clerical services for making various and sundry reports. Concerted action would figure this cost and probably find that it exceeds annually many of the expenses enumerated above. This cost, once ascertained, would be a lively advocate of increased rates and what is more, would compel them to that extent at least.

In the face of these things, is it any wonder that the grievance committee of five or six railroads would receive from our president his gracious and diplomatic sympathies, of course; but if they got anything else the other 1,499 railroads who were not represented, but should have been, have not heard of it.

Small roads, though seldom direct parties to all of these affairs, are affected by them nevertheless. Extravagancies of the big roads in terminal expenses, transportation expenses and wages, automatically and arbitrarily affect the little roads similarly and influence the divisions which they are able to obtain on freight traffic interchanged.

This is not an argument against increased rates; they must and will come (when railroads make them). There are alternatives, and should be done anyhow. These are a few things railroads can do "without the aid or consent of any Nation on earth." Not all they can do, by any means, probably not one-half or one-tenth they can do.

If railroads agree among themselves to do or not to do these things, who is going to prevent them? It is not an organization in restraint of anything except their own folly. It is organization for their own protection. It is one principle of a great National Railroad Protective Association, another provision of which is a National legal department for defense against unjust laws and the compelling of just laws.

DISTRICT COURT BILL PASSES BOTH HOUSES

WILL BECOME LAW AS SOON AS GOVERNOR FERGUSON SIGNS IT

SPECULATION AS TO APPOINTEE

First Judge of New Court Will Be Named By Governor—Several Ears To Ground

Both houses of the Texas Legislature Monday passed the bill creating the new district court for Wichita county and as soon as Governor Ferguson signs the measure, the court will become a reality. The bill was passed with the emergency clause, making it effective at once.

There has been little talk among the members of the local bar as to Governor Ferguson's probable appointee for the new judgeship. The judge named by the governor will serve nearly two years. There has been some speculation as to who will be named and local attorneys who voted for Ferguson are inclined to look hopeful.

The opposition which it had been expected would develop to the bill at Austin failed to materialize. Judge Edgar Scurry was Wichita Falls "lobbyist" on the ground, and evidently did his work well.

MILITARY TRAINING IS ENGLAND'S PROBLEM NOW

Not Enough Teachers To Instruct Recruits and Material For Officers Is Lacking

By Associated Press.

London, Jan. 2 .—The quetsion of military training in the schools is now a live one over all Britain, and the chief agitators are not army men but teachers. Lack of proper materials for officers to take the place of those killed and injured at the front and to supply Kitchens huge new army and the inadequately officered territorial force, is one of the most serious problems of the war. All of the higher schools have been called on for subalterns, as the British "Tommy" objects to serving under any officer not born a gentleman. The teachers feel that they were in sense to balme for not having given their students some elemental preliminary training further than that of the small student officers' corps.

At a meeting of the Incorporated Association of Headmasters in the London Guildhall, F. H. Templar said in regard to the New Zealand system of universal military training in the schools; "While conscription produces militarism, national training destroys it. The citizen soldier is a man whose every interest is bound up with the maintenance of peace."

Another speaker said that military drill and rifle shooting were compulsory in the Swiss schools, yet he asked who could accuse the Swiss of militarism.

A resolution declaring that military training in the schools would save country from having to improvise an army in war time by providing a reserve of trained men, was passed with only few dissenting votes.

Escapes Nervous Breakdown—Stringent Gradually Ebbing Away, Made Well and Strong by Vinol.

New York City—"I have found Vinol to be a godsend as a reconstructive tonic for a run down constitution. I am an official photographer and for a long time I suffered from weakness and general debility and soon realized that my strength was fast leaving me. I tried different tonics without benefit, but one day I saw Vinol advertised and decided to try it. Before I had taken two bottles I had gained in health and strength so I could do 100 per cent more work than before.

"Vinol is the best tonic I ever took and I cannot say enough in its praise to do it justice"—Wm. Kohlhoff, Four Irving Place, New York.

It is the combined action of the curative elements of the cods' livers aided by the blood making and strength creating properties of tonic iron contained in Vinol which makes it so successful in overcoming such conditions.

If you are weak, sickly, run down and overworked try a bottle of Vinol our delicious cod liver and iron tonic without oil, with the understanding we will return your money if it does not help you.

CRUSTO

Odors and flavors roll off Crusto like water off a duck's back. It just simply refuses to absorb the odor or taste of anything that's cooked in it. And it is odorless and tasteless itself. You can do this with Crusto.

Fry fish in it. Strain it to remove the food particles—and it's as fresh and tasteless as new. Use the strained Crusto for frying onions—there will be no fishy flavor. Use that strained Crusto for baking waffles. Your waffles won't taste of fish or onions. This is the truth. Crusto does not absorb odors or flavors.

Further—it does not smoke or smell when heated "red hot"—no frying odor in the house. And besides all this—Crusto is the best and most economical cooking fat for frying and baking; for doing all that lard or butter can do and doing it all better.

Dig Trenches That Are Necessary For Advance—Writer Tells How Work Is Done

By Associated Press

Headquarters Germany Jan. 24. At night when the searchlights flit from trench to trench of the enemy and when gunners send shells into strategic works which during the day have been singled out for this attention the human mole—the pioneer—goes to work. I recently was allowed to visit a place where it was made impossible for him to do his work in daylight. Not alone was every part of the field reminiscent with powerful glasses by the observation officers but men in aeroplanes are also constantly on the lookout for the white or brown scar in the fields that might show pioneers at work digging trenches.

Contrary to popular belief the trenches are but seldom dug by the infantrymen themselves. The little spades they carry serve for the sole purpose of throwing up cover when during an attack the firing line owing to superiority of fire from the enemy's position must entrench itself superficially until reinforcements can be brought up. Trenches of the permanent positions are dug by the pioneers as are also the approach of trenches, bomb proofs and tunnels which make a modern position fight one.

What it means to be a pioneer is well told in a letter which has just been published in the German press. The writer explains that the division staff had thought it advisable to advance closer to the French trenches. Before this could be done a trench had to be dug otherwise the infantry sent there would have been mowed down by the fire from the other side. The locality of the proposed trench lay between the French and German trenches.

So we left the half ruined little village on the banks of the canal reached the highway and labored through the deep mud and around the holes blown in the ground by the shells, continue the pioneer. Also the humming bullets which seemed to have lost their way and the spades beat gently against the rifles.

After wading through mud in fields we crossed a pontoon bridge upon which our steps resounded in dull concussions. Later we entered along the sphere of the English bullets and had to get into the ditch along the road to escape them. After that we crossed more muddy fields, crept through barbed wire fences and finally reached the spot.

There we delved and went to work. It had started to rain again and the ground we worked in became softer than it had been. We worked like maniacs to get over against the fire of the enemy. Though it was dark the bullets hit the wall of earth's horse like hail.

After a while the fire grew worse. Gas down came the command. We rested still enough in the mud but there was a nasty smell about it. For ten minutes we waited in this position and then resumed our work. Some of the ground we were on had been filled in it seemed for after a while we hit a layer of brick fragments which seriously retarded our progress.

The trench we were digging was only 150 to 200 feet from the trench of the enemy some of the braves of whom had perched themselves in the crowns of some willow trees and were popping away at us.

But a winter thunderstorm came to our aid its downpour caused the colour of the men in the trees to cool.

We kept on with our work to the accompaniment of the messam' heavy artillery fire from both sides. Now and then the bombardment would develop into a long rolling cannonade shrieking and howling the projectiles rushed through the air above us to explode on either side with terrific crashes.

Meanwhile we had buried ourselves well in the earth and when the rain ceased and the bullets began again to come from the willow trees they could no longer molest us. With loud splashes they hit the soft loam about us but we were below the level of the parapet we had thrown up.

Another half hour and our work was done. We had not a dry thread on our bodies and covered with mud from head to foot we returned to our quarters accompanied by the humming of the bullets which sped about us.

Now there were stars in the clear sky the same stars as at home. But they look upon a different scene. To the right of us a searchlight lit up the ruins of destroyed towns and villages in sharp contrasts. I thanked God that such a fate has been spared my home.

What is, is Best.

Count thou to say
What is is best
Whatever the test
That rends the soul
Whatever the grief
That comes unbidden in the wings of day
And sends thy sorrowing heart with tears
Whatever thy sad fears
Or what these fetters vain
Clasping cold
The follows and adversity are thy lot
That thou wert born
Still for the Father's glory and thine own eternal bliss
Strain thee until thou art to kiss
The cross that casts upon thy life a light
So that when we sing from this our darkening night
Into our ordinary happy morn
Gaze upon face
All the fullness of new found grace
How shall know
The secret of the vision below

The press dispatches tell of a man who claims he was foreman of the jury that tried and convicted Jefferson Davis having married at Baltimore the other day at the age of 83 years, his bride being 63 years. Will someone now kindly tell us what became of the other eleven "bonepeads" who comprised that famous jury.

Daniel Guggenheim advocates that after the death of men who have accumulated great fortunes the estates they leave should be taxed for the benefit of the poor and needy. Perhaps he is sincere and perhaps not. But, at any rate, there is a way in which he can convince the world of his sincerity. He is a multi-millionaire himself and can provide in his will that his great fortune shall be taxed for the benefit of the poor after he passes away.

The ambition of most men is to accumulate a large fortune and when they pass away leave it to their loved ones. There are a few, however, who have a greater desire to benefit friends than money and who, while alive, the chances are, are more generous by far longer than those who die and leave fortunes. Even those who are to be the benefiters begin to calculate on the time when they shall come into their own and in some instances are not overprovided with grief when the time arrives.

We hope that all advertisements in this paper will be found to be as represented. If you have anything to sell or want anything, The Times will be your paper for buyer and seller. Anyhow it costs but little and you may be the gainer at a bargain.

[illegible] from the safety and comforts and honors that [illegible] efforts and honors that [illegible] voluntarily [illegible] or [illegible] grateful [illegible] and [illegible] codings [illegible] legislatures in vain for any [illegible] of such recognition. He [illegible] on the contrary, much to [illegible] an ungrateful lack of recognition of the service which they compel themselves to go enlisting and [illegible] service which though of rare occurrence, is the more valuable for rarity.

We have abundant and varied reasons for desiring a large and efficient militia. The chief and most obvious is, of course, that we are not altogether exempt from occasions which make the need of a service which only a militia can adequately render. Riots and tumults and unorganized lawlessness beyond the powers of peace officers are still not entirely things of the past. We have another reason in our absurd state of preparation for wars in which the Nation is still Habit. The alternative of a large standing federal army is an adequate and efficient body of State militia. Texas is one of the greatest delinquents in the matter of discharging this country's duty to the federal government. We have still another and higher reason for desiring an efficient militia in the fact that the discipline it imposes on its members, the training they receive in the care of their health, to say nothing of the physical exercise that results, all contribute to a totality of effect that is of a high social value.

[illegible] which in [illegible] days [illegible] a [illegible] that is [illegible] proficiency in the science and art of [illegible] slaughter. But it is rather discomforting to have equal evidence that relish for military service has diminished more rapidly and greatly than the chance of needing it. We have only hinted at considerations which, together with others that they will suggest, ought to persuade everyone of the desirability of doing something to enlarge our militia and improve its efficiency. It is not now our purpose to engage in any detailed consideration of the provisions of the measure that has been prepared to accomplish that desirable end. Just now we would only bespeak a more tolerant and a more enlightened study of the bill than our legislatures have been in the habit of giving to all measures affecting the militia.—Dallas News.

With reference to the above, which [illegible] with the request to republish, The Times will say that while it does not believe there is any necessity now for the State of Texas to burden itself with a large State militia, but it does believe that the occasion may arise at some time when every able-bodied American citizen will be called upon to draw arms in defense of his country and with that in view, remote as the necessity for it may now seem, every American boy should have some military training, and the easiest and least expensive way to bring that about is by the organization of a military training school wherever it is possible to organize a company of boys who will accept the training. A teacher will be necessary and perhaps equipment and uniforms will have to be supplied. The boys, however, should not be expected to supply that, but the necessary funds subscribed by patriotic citizens. The Times understands a movement is on foot to that end with that end in view and it should be encouraged.

OIL COMPANY BILL UP IN SENATE TODAY

otherwise, and to make such orders as it may deem necessary to secure economy in the expenses of such roads and adding to get this data as quickly as possible.

Resolution Follows Fight

Senator Bee's resolution indorsing Wilson came after the senate had indulged in a long discussion over the Westbrook resolution of last week which carried specific indorsements of the Mexican and neutral polices of the President and had sent it over for a day under the rules. Westbrook said he would press his resolution no further as he regarded that of Senator Bee, which was adopted with the dissenting vote of Senator McNealus alone, as much stronger than his.

The resolution of Senator Bee is as follows:

"Be it Resolved, That the senate of Texas cordially indorses the wise and statesmanlike administration of the great President of the United States, Woodrow Wilson, and sends to them our greeting and best wishes in their patriotic endeavors in behalf of the people of this nation, and that the secretary of the senate be directed to send a copy of this resolution to the President of the United States and the senators and representatives in congress from Texas."

Attached to this resolution were the signatures of Senators Bee, Westbrook, Lattimore, Page, Gibson, Darwin, Austin, Robbins, King, Clark, Harley, Bailey of Harris, Harris, Parr, Hall, Henderson, Suiter and Johnson.

Senators Willey, Conner, Morrow and Townsend voted for the resolution and only McNealus against it and he asked unanimous consent to publish his reasons in the journal.

Lobbyists Must Register

The resolution by Townsend requiring lobbyists to register caused a long argument. Senator Morrow wanted to know if the ladies who come to talk to senators about legislation in which they are taking an active interest must register and if a delegation of farmers wanting to talk over matters with their senator would be required to enroll their names and state the purpose of their visit. An effort was made to delay action by reference to the committee on rules but was defeated and the resolution was adopted by a vote of 14 to 8, as follows:

Ayes—Bailey of Harris, Clark, Darwin, Gibson, Harley, Johnson, Lattimore, McNealus, Parr, Robbins, Suiter, Townsend, Westbrook, Willey: 14.

Noes—Austin, Bee, Hall, Harris, Henderson, King, Morrow, Page: 8.

Townsend's bill looking into the salaries of railroad officials is aimed at the big salaries said to be drawn by heads of the great systems operating in Texas, and he proposes to have these placed under the jurisdiction of the state railroad commission. That there will be a concerted fight on the bill by the railroads goes without saying.

The move to elect a new president pro tem came in the shape of a resolution from Senators Clark, Westbrook and Parr declaring that in the absence of Senator Nugent and Senator Bailey whom he had designated as his substitute, it was necessary to elect another president pro tem. Bee said he was no parliamentary sharp but was an ingrained Democrat and he was opposed to this method of legislating man out of office, and it looked to him as though the senator from Montgomery (Nugent) was about to be legislated out. He also criticised the attempt to put Nugent out of office.

McNealus, Morrow, Henderson and others took part in the debate, which was ended by the adoption of an amendment by Henderson that the senate wait until the president pro tem return before taking action.

One of the bills of the day was that by McNealus providing for the creation of a hotel commission and prescribing its duties the object being to see that hotels are operated in a sanitary manner, etc.

Another public hearing of interest is that on the 54-hour law for women workers introduced by Bee. The hearing is set for Friday morning.

A joint resolution for the initiative and referendum was sent up by Westbrook.

W. R. Veale and R. W. Veale of Granite, Oklahoma, were visitors here over night last night. They were traveling in an automobile.

LOCAL AUDIENCE HEARS LECTURE BY JUDGE ALDEN

"The Needs of the Hour" Is Subject of Inspiring Talk at High School Monday Night

A not too large audience heard the lecture of Judge William Alden of Boston at the high school last night, it being one of the regular lecture attractions. The lecturer's subject was "The Needs of the Hour" and proved to be a humorous, entertaining, withal a very instructive talk. The speaker divided his subject into four parts, dealing with the commercial, political, religious and domestic needs of the hour. There was a spirit which dominated every one, he declared and the spirit of the present age was graft. He showed how graft entered into every sphere of activity and declared that the milk man who watered his milk was as big a grafter as the millionaire who gouged the people for his coal.

[illegible] Now Hampshire and Vermont [illegible] comforted his hearers greatly [illegible] think that mean folks like that don't live in Texas.

BILL IS INTRODUCED TO ABOLISH FRATERNITIES

Would Eliminate All Greek Letter and Secret Societies at University

Austin, Texas, Jan. 25.—A bill has been introduced in the House of representatives by Representatives Fry and Stamford abolishing fraternities and sororities in the University. The bill has been referred to the committee on education. Representative Stamford was formerly a student at the University. He is from Van Zandt county. Mr. Fry is from Young county.

The bill in brief provides that there shall be no chapters for the University and further, that after September 1, 1915, there shall be no connection between the University and any Greek letter fraternities, sororities or any other secret organization or club. The bill further makes it mandatory on the board of regents to enforce the provisions of this act by denying to any student participation in any athletic event, the band, glee club or any other leading activity, together with privilege of graduation, where such student is a member of any fraternity or secret society. Students are also prohibited to attend the meetings of such societies while in the University.

[illegible] the provisions of the bill it would seem to cover [illegible] fraternities [illegible] societies [illegible] Kappa and the Delta Sigma [illegible] bill expressly prohibits the existence of any secret society. It may probably be construed to cover the new Masonic club, recently organized in the University. This is the second bill which has been introduced in the legislature to abolish fraternities. The bill has been reported to the committee but has not as yet been acted upon.

SAYS 400 AUTOMOBILES WERE DESTROYED BY BRITISH

Berlin, Jan. 26.—The British air fleet last week on Essen resulted in the destruction of 400 war automobiles [illegible] on [illegible] of the Handelsblatt. These cars were in a repair shop which was wrecked by the British bombs. The loss of this large shop and its elaborate equipment, the correspondent continues, has been a serious blow and the Germans have compelled to use even a private automobile at Aix-la-Chapelle.

New Year's Resolutions

We make them and we break them but there is one resolution that we should make and keep and that is to trade at home. Every merchant and business man living in the city of Wichita Falls is dependent upon you for patronage. Without you they could not exist. Without them you could not have the fine city that you do. In trading at home, however, you must demand equal values, dollar for dollar, that you would get in Dallas or St. Louis. With a fair comparison I will guarantee you are getting that or should for the business men of your city can buy just as cheap in Eastern markets as Dallas men can and the business man here can operate with much less expense than the big city house does. Now the holiday season is over. Many of you received photographs from friends at a distance. It is up to you to reciprocate in kind. We can assure you just as fine work in our studio as you can get in Dallas or Fort Worth and we do not have the heavy operating expense the city studios have, consequently we divide the profits with you. Give us a trial. We will convince you and when we succeed we will all be happy. Call and see us. It costs you nothing. The photos of your friends speak for themselves. Remember the place.

At The Theaters

The Lydia Margaret.

Bruce Morgan and Betty, the double act on the new bill which opened yesterday at this theatre have an act with "pep" in it. Everything they do is a success from the word go. Bruce delights with his nimble toes and his eccentric chair dance is a feature. His pretty partner is good at the piano and both sing, having pleasing voices. The act is well costumed, the full evening dress of both adding materially to the attraction. Leo Feller, violinist opened the bill. In his pictures he costume he brings to mind the troubadour of former days and as a violinist he pleased. "Poet and Peasant Overture," Toreador song from "Carmen" and medley of other selections make up his offering. His semi-classic selections took well. This bill will be repeated today and tomorrow with the picture offering today of Herbert Rawlinson and Anna Little in "A Page from Life" a two part drama replete with interest. Mary Pickford will be seen also in "Sunny Spain." Little Mary is exceedingly charming in this picture.

The Gem.

Walter E. Perkins, Augustus Phillips, Harry Beaumont, Viola Dana, Sally Crute and Elsie MacLeod are featured in "Who Goes There" and adaption of the famous play by A. DeSouchet. A synopsis follows:

When Lieutenant Newman, known as Toppy to all of his friends, brought himself to the point of proposing and realized that his suit was accepted, he was the most surprised person in the world. Kate knew how very bashful he was, so she took things into her own hands, and proposed an elopement, writing him to meet her at Mrs. Hadley's boarding house in the village, near where the military camp was established. Both lieutenants Upton and Enright planned to elope with their sweethearts, and they also arranged to meet the girls at Mrs. Hadley's.

Kate's scheme worked and Toppy secured his leave, but Upton and Enright were met with a flat refusal when they went to the colonel with a similar request.

They were forced to make some arrangement for the girl's protection, however, so they asked Toppy to look out for them. He accepted little knowing what complications would ensue.

In due time, Gertrude and Grace arrived at the boarding house. Mr. Wilson and Gertrude's guardian had disdovered their plans, however and tried every means to prevent the carrying out of their plans, even going so far as to employ the sheriff of the village. Toppy upset their plans, however, and everything was running smoothly until Tom Wheeler arrived to marry Cousin Julia and Toppy loaned him a suit of clothes, as he had spoiled his own by falling from his bidyule.

Mr. Wilson had secured a warrant for the arrest of a young officer—name unknown, and when the soldiers appeared on the scene, it was Wheler they arrested, he being arrayed in Toppy's uniform. He soon escaped by oribing one of the guards and returned to the house to carry out his wedding plans.

Made desperate by the fact that Kate had arrived and entirely misconstrued his attentions to the young women, Just how Toppy got out of his predicament and how all ended their several romance, we'll happily will be shown at the theatre today.

The Empress.

Sid Chaplin, brother of Charles of former Keystone fame is seen today in a Keystone comedy. Sid has the same funny tendencies that marks his brother famous "The Prospector's Warning" a one part Western drama and "Who Shot Bud Walton" a two part lecture featuring Franceha Billington, Raoul Walsh, Eugene Pallette and Sam De Grasse are also on the program. A synopsis of the latter picture follows:

Lafe Johnson, sheriff of Badger, arrives at the Fashion Saloon to find Jeff Hardin, a smoking revolver in his hand, standing over the dead body of Bud Walton. It is discovered, however, that while Hardin carries a 45 calibre revolver Watson has been shot with a 30-30 rifle bullet which, witnesses say, was fired from an inner room back of where Hardin was sitting. The imprint of a man's hand in axle grease on the wall of the inner room is the only clue. Harlon, who also had fired several times at the murdered man, it was not guilty of the fatal shot. Held on a nominal charge while the sheriff and his aide go in quest of the real murderer. They arrest Slim Terry whom they have reason to suspect, since he is the tallest man in the region and the imprint of the hand on the wall was nearly nine feet from the floor. Slim confesses to killing Walton but refuses to have he spoken. When Tillie, a pretty girl who is employed at the Fashion Saloon, rushes into the court room and calmly announces that Slim lies, and it is she who fired the fatal shot. Then it develops that Tillie and Slim are sweethearts and that Walton determined to cut out Slim and run him out of town. She had told her lover in the inner room purposely to kill their persecutor. But as Slim could not shoot straight, she had made him put his hands against the wall while she performed the deed with her own rifle. Consternation reigns in the court room. But Tillie—and all concerned—are acquitted. Then the town of Padner turns in to celebrate the wedding of Tillie and Slim.

The Majestic.

Lydia Borelli, the celebrated European actress who is playing the lead in George Kleine's new five part motion picture subject "The Naked Truth" which opens at the Majestic Theatre today is one of the best known actresses on the European stage. That she is not better known in America is largely a question of her age, for Miss Borelli is just out of her teens. Her [illegible]

[illegible] when that famous Italian [illegible] ago.

Miss Borelli is unquestionably the highest paid actress in motion pictures. For her work in "The Naked Truth" Miss Borelli was paid [illegible] in addition to which she received an interest in the profits of the film. Incidentally she demanded considerations of her that those monetary that seriously interfere with the exploitation of the film in Europe and would not be tolerated for a moment by any film producer for a star of less consequence. In her contract, Miss Borelli succeeded in getting the manufacturers' consent never to rent the film to any theatre in a city where she is playing at the time. When it is understood that a manufacturer usually sells his film outright to an exchange or rental company and therefore loses all track of it, the troublesome nature of such a clause is apparent. Fortunately for George Kleine Miss Borelli is so hedged about with contracts of her own that there is no possibility of her arriving in America until "The Naked Truth" has had a nation-wide run.

WE CLEAN AND PRESS

the finest suits in Wichita Falls. We look after the best wardrobes in the city. There is a reason fo this. If we did not give absolute satisfaction in both work and price we would never be able to hold this business. We do one hundred cents worth of work for the dollar. We know that seventy-five cent worth of work scattered over a dollar job would never do with the class of people who patronize our shop. The American people get what they pay for. If the price is too cheap the work is the same way. We clean and press your suit for ONE DOLLAR because the dollar is right; more is too much, less is not enough. Our guarantee is wide open with no strings to it. IF

WE DON'T PLEASE YOU DON'T PAY.

ARE YOU

One of those human derelicts who disregard every obligation and duty you owe to your loved ones, and the citizenship in which you live. Our cemetery today should be the pride of every citizen, and yet there are towns like Graham and Crowell, Texas, that can put us to shame when it comes to the care of their burial grounds. If every citizen in this big, prosperous city would put forth a little effort we could make it worth while, and the talk of every visitor.

We sod, fill in and otherwise beautify your plot Now, in case you haven't the time, just phone us.
